Indiana Association of Regional Councils: Established in 1997, the Indiana Association of Regional Councils (IARC) provides a statewide forum for directors, staff, and board members of 12 regional planning agencies in Indiana to network and share ideas that promote economic and community development, transportation planning, smart growth and other issues on a regional basis.

The 12 member organizations provide comprehensive, regional planning services that are coordinated with local municipal and county governments. The IARC organizations represent Regional Planning Commissions, Economic Development Districts and Metropolitan Planning Organizations and provide a variety of economic and community development, housing, planning, transportation and specialized services to local governments, businesses and other nonprofit organizations within a multi-county planning region.

IARC supports regional development efforts that prioritize and categorize local community and economic development needs and projects based on urgency, feasibility and determined regional priority.
